

Washington Intergovernmental Professional Group's

NEW YEAR: NEW ADMINISTRATION

Optimizing access and impact on Washington's changing political landscape

WHAT WE DO

Beyond Capitol Hill, Nelson Garcia, Nancy Bocskor, and Joseph Grieboski know the ins and outs of working with a new Administration. With years of experience and three individual perspectives, this trio provides you with the tools and skills to be successful in the days ahead.

Politics 101

Guiding you through the current political environment and helping you gain the tools to succeed in it

Diplomatic Training

Ensuring you have the skills to master the art of diplomacy and become a more effective diplomat

Advocacy & Engagement

Advising you on how to be a successful advocate by engaging with the right firms and individuals

Effective Communication

Crafting a solid plan with a strategic message to better communicate with those on Capitol Hill and in the Administration

Processes

Helping you understand the hierarchy of staff in a Congressional office, how bills are passed, and the importance of committee and non-committee members

WHO WE ARE

Nelson Garcia

Since 2009, Nelson Garcia has served as the founder and current President of the Washington Intergovernmental Professional Group, LLC, an organization which maintains a contact list of more than 8,000 senior professionals from the private sector, diplomatic community, as well as staff members from the U.S. House, Senate and Federal Agencies in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area.

Nancy Bocskor

Nancy Bocskor is an internationally distinguished expert in applied democracy. Nancy has coached countless emerging leaders from students, activists and non-profit organizations to foreign and domestic public officials in all 50 states and in 25 countries. Her clientele ranges from individuals and groups in the U.S. to embassies and activists abroad. Her areas of expertise are comprised of presentation skills, speech coaching, fundraising, grassroots advocacy, and civic leadership training.

Joseph K. Grieboski

Joseph K. Grieboski is a social entrepreneur whose innovative ideas have revolutionized thinking across a number of fields. President and CEO of Grieboski Global Strategies, Joseph is also Founder and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Nobel Peace Prize-nominated The Institute on Religion and Public Policy. He is an internationally recognized expert in religious freedom, national security, counter-extremism, human rights, and conflict transformation. With more than 20 years of experience in the advocacy industry, Joseph is set to release his highly anticipated book "The Art of Political Persuasion: Lobbying Strategies in the 21st Century."
